'Dexter: New Blood' breathes new life into deadly show

By Kyla Brewer
TV Media

When a popular television show ends, there are always heartbroken fans who want more, especially when they are unhappy with the finale. Most of the time they are out of luck, but every so often a series is so compelling it's resurrected. One such series is headed back to prime time in all its bloody glory.

Michael C. Hall ("Six Feet Under") reprises his role as serial killer Dexter Morgan in the 10-episode special event series "Dexter: New Blood," premiering Sunday, Nov. 7, on Showtime. It's been 10 years since Dexter left Miami and headed north, and the new series finds him living under an assumed name in fictional Iron Lake, New York.

TV viewers first met Dexter Morgan in 2006 when the original "Dexter" premiered on Showtime that October. Based on the Jeff Lindsay novel "Darkly Dreaming Dexter," the crime drama followed Dexter as he worked as a blood splatter expert for the Miami police department. At the same time, he led a secret life as a vigilante serial killer who hunted down other murderers who somehow escaped justice. In the end, (spoiler alert) he himself escaped justice and was last seen working as a logger in Oregon — a resolution fans were not happy with, prompting them to clamor for a revival.

"Dexter: New Blood" picks up with Dexter, now known as Jim Lindsay to the community of Iron Lake, where he works at Fred's Fish and Game, presumably selling knives and other hunting and fishing supplies. It appears that he has been successfully suppressing his urge to kill, which he calls his Dark Passenger. However, it looks like all that is about to change.

"I may be a monster, but I am an evolving monster," Dexter says in an official "Dexter: New Blood" trailer, which was released in September. In it, he also hints at what may be coming in the revival, adding, "Sometimes, I have an urge too strong to ignore."

His Dark Passenger is not the only one to return.

In July, Showtime confirmed that actress Jennifer Carpenter ("Limitless") would reprise her role as Dexter's sister, Debra Morgan, in "New Blood," which may have come as a surprise to those in the know because (spoiler alert) Dexter threw her body into the ocean in the Season 8 finale. She may be dead, but she will appear to Dexter in some form or another throughout the new Showtime series.

Spicing things up: Teigen matriarch lands on discovery+

Vilailuck "Pepper" Teigen from "Getting Spicy With Pepper Teigen"

By Michelle Rose
TV Media

Families play a big role in shaping a child's food preferences and establishing good eating habits that are carried into adulthood. So it's no surprise that many famous chefs, celebrity or otherwise, often credit their mothers for their culinary success.

One celebrity's mom is getting her time in the spotlight this month. "Getting Spicy with Pepper Teigen" premiered on Food Network on Saturday, Nov. 6, and now lands on discovery+, where it can be streamed at your leisure.

Food Network touts "Getting Spicy with Pepper Teigen" as a food special that "showcases the Teigen family as they've never been seen before, with an inside look at the way they cook and eat."

Pepper, whose real name is Vilailuck, is the mother of model/TV personality/entrepreneur Chrissy Teigen; she's also the co-author of the New York Times bestselling cookbook "The Pepper Thai Cookbook," an 80-recipe collection that hit bookstores earlier this year. Those two claims to fame are combined in this half-hour TV special, which was executive produced by daughter Chrissy through her production company, Huntley Productions.

The Thailand-born cookbook-author-turned-TV-star has always had a passion for creating family meals influenced by the flavors of home, and that's what you get from "Getting Spicy."

While grandchildren Pasha, Luna and Miles are away on a playdate, Pepper and her eldest daughter, Tina, reminisce while preparing a family feast that is heavy on deliciously sweet-and-sour and spicy flavors.

First up is a tomato, bacon and corn salad with a spicy twist, then it's shrimp lettuce wraps, a Teigen family favorite that has been affectionately dubbed "Thai Tacos." Pepper then presents her own take on chicken larb (a refreshing chicken salad) by incorporating her guilty pleasure, fried chicken. (It truly becomes a family affair once the grandkids return just in time to help Pepper prepare pineapple soft serve for dessert.)

"Getting Spicy with Pepper Teigen" is available to stream on discovery+ and fans can also find the full recipes online at FoodNetwork.com/GettingSpicy.

"Gentefied" - Season 2

Jump back into the family business with Season 2 of "Gentefied," available to stream on Netflix beginning Wednesday, Nov. 10. J.J. Soria ("The Oath"), Karrie Martin ("Roommates," 2019) and Carlos Santos ("Vacation Friends," 2021) star as the Morales cousins, a Mexican American family living in the Los Angeles neighborhood of Boyle Heights. Season 1 saw the family come together to save their grandfather's (Joaquín Cosío, "Quantum of Solace," 2008) beloved taco shop as their neighborhood becomes more gentrified, and the cousins confront the differences in how they connect to their heritage, culture and their community. Dealing with deportation, disappearances and huge changes to their family business, the Morales family's story is coming back full force for Season 2. Created by Linda Yvette Chávez and Marvin Lemus, both of whom worked on the original "Gente-fied: The Digital series," the show once again rests in the very capable hands of director America Ferrera ("Superstore"). Alma Martinez ("Clemency," 2019), Annie Gonzalez ("Vida"), Julissa Calderon ("Bridges," 2021) and Manuel Uriza ("Rambo: Last Blood," 2019) also star in the series.

"Father Christmas Is Back" (2021)

Every family has its quirks, but the Christmas family is certainly one for the history books. "Father Christmas Is Back" premieres Sunday, Nov. 7, on Netflix. This British Christmas comedy stars April Bowlby ("Doom Patrol"), Talulah Riley ("Pride & Prejudice," 2005), Elizabeth Hurley ("The Royals") and Nathalie Cox ("Clash of the Titans," 2010) as Jackie, Vicky, Joanna and Caroline Christmas, four sisters who reunite at a mansion in Yorkshire, U.K., for the holidays. While the dysfunctional family is determined to have a perfect Christmas, mishaps and misunderstandings dredge up old wounds and a buried secret that tore the family apart years earlier. From directors Mick Davis ("The Match," 1999) and Philippe Martinez ("Wake of Death," 2004), this fun new film is written by David Conolly and Hannah Davis (both of "Mothers and Daughters," 2004), alongside newcomer Dylanne Corcoran. Kelsey Grammer ("Frasier"), John Cleese ("Monty Python's Flying Circus"), Kris Marshall ("Love Actually," 2003), Caroline

Quentin ("British Men Behaving Badly"), Ray Fearon ("Beauty and the Beast," 2017) and Ania Marson (the BBC miniseries "Emma") also star.

"Passing" (2021)

Take a trip back to the '20s (the 1920s, that is) in the new Netflix original film, "Passing," making its debut Wednesday, Nov. 10, on the streaming platform. A modern black-and-white film set in 1920's New York City, "Passing" follows a young, mixed-race woman named Irene (Tessa Thompson, "Creed," 2015) whose life is upended by an unexpected reunion with her childhood friend, Clare (Ruth Negga, "Loving," 2016). Clare, though also of a mixed background, is "passing" as white in public. While Irene has identified strongly with her African American heritage, Clare's life has taken her in an entirely different direction. Now back in each other's lives and dealing with old insecurities, the two women see their carefully constructed identities become threatened. Based on the 1929 novel of the same name by Nella Larsen, this film marks the feature writing and directing debut for actress Rebecca Hall ("Vicky Cristina Barcelona," 2008). André Holland ("Moonlight," 2016), Bill Camp ("American Rust"), Gbenga Akinagbe ("The Taking of Pelham 123," 2009), Antoinette Crowe-Legacy ("Godfather of Harlem"), Alexander Skarsgård ("The Legend of Tarzan," 2016) and Justus Davis Graham ("Wu-Tang: An American Saga") also star in the film.

Becoming a Free-man

'Shawshank' actor narrates escape series

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Becoming a Free-man: Legendary actor Morgan Freeman, perhaps best known as the voice of God in "Bruce Almighty" (2003) and "Evan Almighty" (2007), is leaning into another former role of his this month on History. Channeling his "Shawshank Redemption" (1994) prisoner, Ellis Boyd Redding, once again, Freeman is set to narrate "Great Escapes With Morgan Freeman," premiering Tuesday, Nov. 9, on History.

Using his undeniably recognizable voice, Freeman digs deep (no tools needed this time around) into the stories of some of the world's greatest jail breaks, from Sing Sing to Her Majesty's Prison Maze in Northern Ireland, and more. Kicking off the series with arguably America's most (supposedly) secure facility, Alcatraz, the actor expressed in a recent statement his excitement to be a part of the project.

"I've been inside the minds of prisoners in my acting career, and I'm looking forward to stepping inside the most notorious prisons in the world, like Alcatraz, Sing Sing, Rikers Island and Leavenworth," Freeman noted. "Audiences will feel like they're making the escapes themselves as I walk them into a virtual world and through the greatest escapes in history."

His comment about viewers feeling as if "they're making the escapes themselves" might seem a bit odd at first, but it all begins to come together when taking into consideration the technology the show uses to reenact the escapes.

The series, produced by Freeman himself and Lori McCreary's ("Invictus," 2009) production company, Revelations Entertainment, uses state-of-the-art visual effects and graphics to map out each successful break from inside the prison in question, all while Freeman executes the plan in front of the viewers' eyes.

Keeping it country: It's that time of the year again, so get ready for black ties and cowboy hats to grace the red carpets of ABC: the 55th Annual Country Music Association Awards show airs Wednesday, Nov. 10, on the network.

Following last year's low-key ceremony (and lack of red carpet) at Music City Center in Nashville, Tennessee, this year will be seeing a more "normal" event to be hosted live from the city's Bridgestone Arena in front of a fully vaccinated audience. While this year's host has yet to be announced as of press time, some big names are still being tossed around in association with the country music celebration.

Top of the nominations pool this year are Eric Church and Chris Stapleton, each of whom has raked in a total of five nods that include possible Entertainer of the Year, Album of the Year and Male Vocalist of the Year wins. Also up for the Entertainer of the Year award are artists Luke Combs, Carrie Underwood and Miranda Lambert, the latter of whom is now the most nominated female artist in CMA history (and third overall after Alan Jackson and George Strait).

Other notable contenders include new artist Gabby Barrett, who is nominated this year in two categories (New Artist of the Year and Female Vocalist of the Year), and Mickey Guyton, the first Black female artist to be nominated in an individual award category.

"Always Jane" - Season 1

Take a journey with the new four-part docuseries "Always Jane," making its debut on Prime on Friday, Nov. 12. This true coming-of-age story follows transgender teenager Jane Noury and her family as she prepares for graduation and gets ready to leave the nest. An intimate look at the Noury family, the series explores the family's unconditional love for their daughter and their fight to let Jane live her life as authentically as possible while facing some of the deeply personal challenges and roadblocks that come their way. With uplifting humor and love, this portrait of the family follows Jane's journey as she deals with school, friendship, growing up and love, all while getting ready to leave her rural New Jersey home. From executive producer and director Jonathan C. Hyde ("Blondish: Bye Bye Plastic," 2019), the series is written by Kaitlin McLaughlin ("Hostile Border," 2015).

Rose Reid and Jedidiah Goodacre as seen in "Finding You"

"Finding You" (2021)

Cuddle up and grab your popcorn for the young adult rom-com "Finding You," available to stream on Prime starting Friday, Nov. 12. Based on the 2011 young adult novel "There You'll Find Me" by Jenny B. Jones, this coming-of-age romance brings music and friendship into a whirlwind love. It's the last straw for student and aspiring violinist Finley Sinclair (Rose Reid, "The World We Make," 2019), when she's rejected after her audition to a prestigious music school. In need of a change, Finley heads to Ireland for a semester abroad, where her deceased brother once studied, and she moves into her relatives' small coastal-town bed and breakfast. It's just her luck that famous movie star Beckett Rush (Jedidiah Goodacre, "Chilling Adventures of Sabrina") not only ends up sitting next to her on the plane over, but is also staying in her family's B&B while he films his newest movie. With a strange note left by her brother, new friendships growing and an unlikely romance budding with the hunky movie star, Finley's life becomes anything but ordinary. However, Beckett's fast and glamorous life is wildly different from her own, and when these differences catch up with them, Finley must decide how much she's willing to give up for love. Written and directed by Brian Baugh ("The World We Make," 2019), the film also stars Katherine McNamara

Jane Noury from "Always Jane"

("Shadowhunters"), Patrick Bergin ("Sleeping With the Enemy," 1991), Saoirse-Monica Jackson ("Derry Girls"), Judith Hoag ("Nashville"), Fiona Bell ("Shetland"), Anabel Sweeney ("The Legend of Longwood," 2014), Tom Everett Scott ("13 Reasons Why") and Vanessa Redgrave ("Letters to Juliet," 2010).

"The Spruces and the Pines" (2017)

It's a star-crossed Christmas in this holiday rom-com. The 2017 film, "The Spruces and the Pines," is available to stream now on Prime. In a modern Christmas twist on a classic Romeo and Juliet-style romance, Christmas trees are no laughing matter for these feuding families. The owners of two rival Christmas tree farms in New England, the Spruce family and the Pine family, take their business rivalry seriously. But when Rick Spruce (Nick Ballard, "The Haves and the Have Nots") is in town visiting from Texas, all bets are off for Julie Pine (Jonna Walsh, "Couples Retreat," 2009). The two quickly fall in love but are forced to keep their yuletide romance a secret from their warring families. Directed by John Stimpson ("The Legend of Lucy Keyes," 2006), "The Spruces and the Pines" is written by Bonnie Hallman and Lyn Woodward (both of "Christmas With the Andersons," 2016), and Marcy Holland ("Wish Upon a Christmas," 2015). Tom Kemp ("Little Women," 2019), Ken Cheeseman ("Leaves of Grass," 2009), Sarah Fischer ("Ted," 2012), Kathy Harum ("Patriots Day," 2016), Joanna Herrington ("The Woman," 2011) and newcomers John MacGregor and Ferns Francois also star in the film.

"Pain & Gain" (2013)

There's no reward without a little risk, and this 2013 action film takes that adage to a dark extreme. "Pain & Gain" is available to stream on Hulu as of Sunday, Nov. 7. Based on a true story published by Pete Collins in 1999, "Pain & Gain" tells the story of the Sun Gym Gang in Miami, Florida. Ambitious bodybuilder and ex-con Daniel Lugo (Mark Wahlberg, "The Fighter," 2010) is the Sun Gym's manager. Jealous of the extravagant lifestyle of one of the gym's members, Victor Kershaw (Tony Shalhoub, "Monk"), Lugo decides his only way to achieve his American dream is through extortion. Getting fellow trainer Adrian Doorbal (Anthony Mackie, "The Falcon and the Winter Soldier") and ex-con Paul Doyle (Dwayne Johnson, "Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle," 2017) onboard, the trio plans to kidnap Kershaw and extort him for all he's worth. After successfully kidnapping Kershaw after a number of failed attempts, just when the group thinks they must be in the clear, everything goes terribly wrong. From award-winning director Michael Bay ("Armageddon," 1998), the film features a screenplay by the super writing duo of Christopher Markus and Stephen McFeely ("Avengers: Endgame," 2019). Ed Harris ("Appaloosa," 2008), Rob Corddry ("Hot Tub Time Machine," 2010), Bar Paly ("NCIS: Los Angeles"), Rebel Wilson ("Pitch Perfect," 2012), Ken Jeong ("Community") and Michael Rispoli ("Kick-Ass," 2010) also star in the film.

"Emperor" (2012)

Get a glimpse into the world's dark history when the 2012 American-Japanese war film "Emperor" makes its way onto Hulu Monday, Nov. 8. This historical war drama follows Gen. Bonner Fellers (Matthew Fox, "Lost") as he is tasked with rounding up and arresting Japanese war criminals at the end of World War II. He agrees, but Gen. Fellers has another motive when undertaking his duties: finding his love, Aya (Eriko Hatsune, "Norwegian Wood," 2010), whom he met while she was an exchange student in America years earlier. When faced with the decision of whether or not Japan's Emperor Hirohito (Takatarô Kataoka, "The Little House," 2014) should be hung as a war criminal, Fellers finds his personal quest for love swaying his decision making. Adapted from the book "His Majesty's Salvation" by Shiro Okamoto, "Emperor" is directed by Peter Webber ("Girl With a Pearl Earring," 2003), and features a screenplay by Vera Blasi ("Tortilla Soup," 2001) and David Klass ("Walking Tall," 2004). The film also stars Tommy Lee Jones ("No Country for Old Men," 2007), Toshiyuki Nishida ("Doctor X"), Masayoshi Haneda ("Edge of Tomorrow," 2014), Kaori Momoi ("Memoirs of a Geisha," 2005), Colin Moy ("Spartacus," 2013), Masatoshi Nakamura ("Half Blue"), Aaron Jackson ("Guns Akimbo," 2019) and Nic Sampson ("The Brokenwood Mysteries").

"Star Trek Into Darkness" (2013)

Explore the final frontier with the 2013 hit film "Star Trek Into Darkness," available to stream on Hulu starting Sunday, Nov. 14. The 12th installment in the Star Trek franchise, this film comes as the second in a series of film reboots, after 2009's "Star Trek." With Capt. Kirk (Chris Pine, "Wonder Woman," 2017) demoted to first officer for violating the Prime directive, and Spock (Zachary Quinto, "American Horror Story") moved to another ship, things are looking bleak for the pair. But when a terror attack is committed against Starfleet by someone within their own organization, Kirk is reinstated as captain of the Enterprise with Spock, Uhura (Zoe Saldana, "Guardians of the Galaxy," 2014) and Bones (Karl Urban, "The Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers," 2002) by his side.

With a personal score to settle, Kirk leads his team into a life-or-death mission to save the galaxy from a one-man weapon of mass destruction. Directed by J.J. Abrams ("Star Wars: Episode VII - The Force Awakens," 2015), "Star Trek Into Darkness" is written by Roberto Orci ("Fringe"), Alex Kurtzman ("Star Trek: Discovery") and Damon Lindelof ("Watchmen"). Simon Pegg ("Hot Fuzz," 2007), John Cho ("Harold & Kumar Go to White Castle," 2004), Benedict Cumberbatch ("The Imitation Game," 2014), Anton Yelchin ("Green Room," 2015) and Bruce Greenwood ("I, Robot," 2004) star alongside Pine, Quinto and Leonard Nimoy ("Star Trek: The Original Series"), who reprises his original role as Spock in the film.
