Fox's sunny 'Fantasy Island' gets into the Christmas spirit

By Kyla Brewer
TV Media

A lot of people fantasize about the perfect Christmas, but what if you could make your wildest holiday dreams come true? A hit summer series is returning to titillate viewers with a special two-hour holiday edition this season, and fans won't want to miss it.

Roselyn Sánchez ("Devious Maids") stars as the mysterious Elena Roarke, a woman who welcomes travelers in search of a little holiday magic in a special double episode of "Fantasy Island," airing Tuesday, Dec. 21, on Fox. The premiere two-hour event marks the return of the hit show that wowed audiences this summer — a stunning reboot of the classic 1977 to 1984 television series that starred Ricardo Montalban ("Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan," 1982) as Elena's ancestor, Mr. Roarke.

The reimaged series proved so popular that it has already been picked up for Season 2, and producers are treating fans to a bonus Christmas special to tide them over until the next season.

When the second-season pickup was announced, Fox executive Michael Thorn explained that Season 1 left viewers wanting more, so "more" is exactly what they'll get.

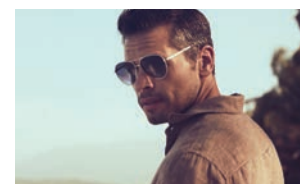

"Thanks to the fantastic Roselyn Sánchez and charming Kiara Barnes and the captivating stories that tapped into the core tenets of emotion and aspiration, 'Fantasy Island' was the perfect wish fulfilment and escape we all needed this summer," Thorn said in an official Fox news release.

The basic plot of Fox's "Fantasy Island" is true to the original: People arrive at a luxury resort on an idyllic tropical island with hopes of living out their fantasies, which are magically granted. Though the magic of the island appears to give them everything they think they want, they often learn important lessons about what they really need.

The reboot, however, takes the premise of the original and tweaks it for today's audiences.

While Montalban's Roarke was shrouded in mystery and perhaps even a little devious, viewers learn a little more about Sánchez's Elena, who purportedly gave up her ambitions and maybe even the love of her life to continue her family's tradition as stewards of the mystical island.

In the classic series, Mr. Roarke relied on the assistance of his comrade, Tattoo (Hervé Villechaize, "The Man With the Golden Gun," 1974), but assisting Elena on the island now is Ruby Akuda (Kiara Barnes, "The Bold and the Beautiful"), a woman who came to the island with a terminal illness and who's been mysteriously granted a new lease on life.

Wishing on a (Food) star: Food Network readies new offerings for 2022

Ina Garten of "The Barefoot Contessa" expands relationship with Discovery

By Michelle Rose
TV Media

Hopefully you've been more "nice" than "naughty" this year, because Food Network is ready to fulfill your holiday wish for new programs in 2022.

This year, we saw several Food Network stars land exclusive multi-year deals, and that means we can expect to see tons of new content from them in 2022 — series, seasons, episodes, podcasts, streaming specials, you name it.

One of those stars is Ina Garten, who signed a deal that allows her to expand her reach beyond the "Barefoot Contessa" franchise.

Her first project is the tentatively titled series "Be My Guest," in which Garten welcomes viewers into her home (hopefully with a giant cocktail in hand). What's interesting about this one is that there will be three versions of "Be My Guest": a half-hour show on Food Network, a companion podcast and an hour-long, extended cut on discovery+.

Guy Fieri's contract was big news last spring, when his $80-million deal made him the highest-paid chef on TV, and if you're looking forward to seeing new projects from him, you don't have much longer to wait: on Dec. 26, discovery+ subscribers are getting a sneak peek of the new six-part series "Guy's Chance of a Lifetime," which premieres Jan. 2 on Food Network.

"We rolled cameras around the clock on 'Guy's Chance of a Lifetime,' documenting every aspect of this unprecedented, grueling, 24/7 job interview," Courtney White, president of Food Network and streaming food content for Discovery, said. "To win [one of Fieri's Chicken Guy franchises], these applicants study through the night then rise at dawn to apply their new skills on the real-life restaurant line, with Guy assessing their every move. The pressure and stakes couldn't be higher. It's an intense journey and thrilling to watch."

Speaking of intense journeys, Bobby Flay seemed poised to chart a new course in 2022. With his contract expiring at year's end, everyone was bracing for Flayxit after reports surfaced that contract talks had broken off and the two sides were far apart.

In the end, Flay and Food Network are not uncoupling: they agreed on a multi-year deal that extends their relationship until 2024, so expect to see "Bobby and Sophie on the Coast" among the new series that will be gifted to us in 2022.

SUNDAY

11:00 a.m. FOOD Girl Meets Farm Molly Yeh is making all the best dishes from her first married vacation. She makes her fluffy shredded pancake with tart plum sauce, crunchy pork schnitzel with a crisp cucumber salad and the most adorable glazed almond mini cakes you've ever seen.

12:30 p.m. FOOD Barefoot Contessa: Back to Basics Ina Garten indulges in recipes starring some of her favorite cheeses. She uses sharp white cheddar, Monterey jack and cream cheese in fresh crab nachos and lunches on baked raclette and green salad vinaigrette. She also bakes a fresh fig and ricotta cake.

8:00 p.m. FOOD Buddy vs. Duff For their final battle, Buddy Valastro and Duff Goldman create their own magical winter wonderlands. The teams construct arctic creatures and their habitats in displays of massive proportions, and the King of Holiday Cakes is crowned.

9:30 p.m. FOOD Holiday Wars With $25,000 and the title of Holiday Wars Champion at stake, the last two teams of cake and sugar artists must showcase the wildest, most-powerful modernization imaginable for Santa's new ride.

"Emily In Paris" – Season 2

The good times keep on rolling when "Emily In Paris" returns to Netflix with Season 2 on Wednesday, Dec. 22. A rising marketing whiz from Chicago, Emily (Lily Collins, "The Mortal Instruments: City of Bones," 2013) moves to Paris in Season 1 for an unbelievable job opportunity: a marketing firm wants to hire her to give them an American perspective. With endless opportunities for adventure and more culture to dive into, Emily's return in Season 2 promises new romances, friendships and potential messes with the arrival of an old flame. From "Sex and the City" and "Beverly Hills, 90210" creator Darren Star, this fun comedy series also stars Philippine Leroy-Beaulieu ("Call My Agent!"), Ashley Park ("Tales of the City"), Lucas Bravo ("Caprice," 2019), Samuel Arnold ("National Theatre Live: Antony & Cleopatra," 2018), Bruno Gouery ("Rose Island," 2020), Camille Razat ("The Accusation," 2021) and William Abadie ("Homeland").

"Don't Look Up" (2021)

Keep an eye on the sky (or on second thought, maybe don't) for the streaming release of the highly anticipated new sci-fi com-

Lucien Laviscount and Lily Collins in Season 2 of edy "Don't Look Up," premiering on Netflix on Friday, Dec. 24. The star-studded film follows Randall (Leonardo DiCaprio, "The Revenant," 2015) and Kate (Jennifer Lawrence, "The Hunger Games," 2012), two low-level astronomers who have their quiet lives thrust into the limelight. A comet capable of destroying the planet is rapidly making its way toward Earth, and it's up to Randall and Kate to venture on a giant media tour to warn mankind about their potential doom. Produced, directed and written by Oscar-winner Adam McKay ("The Big Short," 2015), and featuring a story by McKay and David Sirota ("The '90s Greatest"), "Don't Look Up" is already receiving rave reviews from its advanced screenings. The all-star cast is rounded out by Timothée Chalamet ("Dune," 2021), Jonah Hill ("The Wolf of Wall Street," 2013), Cate Blanchett ("Carol," 2015), Meryl Streep ("Sophie's Choice," 1982), Melanie Lynskey ("Togetherness"), Ariana Grande ("Scream Queens"), Ron Perlman ("Hand of God"), Mark Rylance ("The Trial of the Chicago 7," 2020), Michael Chiklis ("Gotham") and Tyler Perry ("Those Who Wish Me Dead," 2021).

"Grumpy Christmas" (2021)

A family battle for holiday supremacy rages on in the new Mexican Christmas comedy "Grumpy Christmas," coming to Netflix on Wednesday, Dec. 22. Bitter, grumpy patriarch Don Servando (Héctor Bonilla, "Red Dawn," 1989) and his family travel to their aunt's place to spend Christmas with her. The family just wants to have a good time, but Servando and his sister end up in a fierce competition while Servando tries to prove to his family that she is a terrible person. Directed by Raúl Martínez ("The Waiter," 2021), "Grumpy Christmas" is written by Eduardo Donjuan ("Queens of Beer," 2019) and new talent Pedro González. Jacqueline Bracamontes ("Loli's Luck"), Juan Pablo de Santiago ("I Dream in Another Language," 2017), Renata Notni ("El Dragón: Return of a Warrior"), Tina Romero ("Ana"), Eduardo Tanus ("The Patriarch," 2016), Tina French ("The Legend of Zorro," 2005), Benny Ibarra ("City of the Blind," 1991), Yulian Diaz ("The Patriarch," 2016) and Angélica María ("Sea of Dreams," 2006) also star in the film.

"A Thousand Kilometers From Christmas" (2021)

Get in the holiday spirit with the new Spanish Christmas film "A Thousand Kilometers From Christmas," premiering Friday, Dec. 24, on Netflix. Now in his 30s, Raúl (Tamar Novas, "The Ministry of Time," 2017) has had every misfortune in his life happen at Christmas. With a long-standing hatred of the holiday season and a grinchy attitude to match, Raúl tries to get as much space as possible between himself and the festive celebrations. When his job lands him in a village that is as stereotypically cheerful as they come, Raúl finds himself being reluctantly drawn into the holiday cheer by a local teacher, Paula (Andrea Ros,

"If I Hadn't Met You"). This heartwarming holiday rom-com comes from director Álvaro Fernández Armero ("Spanish Shame") and writers Francisco Arnal ("La Familia Mata") and Daniel Monedero ("Off Course to China," 2019). "A Thousand Kilometers From Christmas" also stars Verónica Forqué ("Kika," 1993), Peter Vives ("The Time in Between"), Fermi Reixach ("The Cold Light of Day," 2012), Sergio Pozo ("HIT"), Daniel Barea Cabrera ("La edad de la ira") and Natalia Agüero Avecilla ("Jacinto," 2021).

Jennifer Lawrence and Leonardo DiCaprio star in "Don't Look Up"

A 'Home Town' elf

Ben Napier crafts holiday spirit in the 'Workshop'

By Rachel Jones

TV Media

A 'Home Town' elf: Ben Napier is one of the most successful home renovators on television. His series "Home Town" has run for five seasons and neither he nor his series shows any signs of stopping — in fact, he's already spawned two spinoffs: "Home Town: Takeover" and "Home Town: Ben's Workshop." This holiday season, that lineup expands even further with "Home Town: Ben's Holiday Workshop," which airs Sunday, Dec. 19, 2021, on HGTV.

Ben and his wife, Erin, have spent years renovating homes in their native Laurel, Miss., always with their signature care and charm. In "Home Town: Ben's Holiday Workshop," the couple instead set their sights on multiple bite-sized projects, featuring many with celebrity guest stars.

Capt. Sig and Mandy Hansen from Discovery Channel's

"Deadliest Catch" stop by Ben's workshop to build some custom woodwork gifts in the special. Dancer, actor and choreographer Stephen "tWitch" Boss and wife Allison, co-hosts of "Design Star: Next Gen," also drop in, this time to whip up fun new installations for a local children's center.

The special is sure to be fun, festive and joyful, or as Ben himself says in the trailer, "With I in my workshop and Erin on design, plus a few special guests means a wonderful time." (Looks like the spirit of the season is getting to him.)

Don't miss the "wonderful time" in "Home Town: Ben's Holiday Workshop," airing Sunday, Dec. 19, on HGTV.

Gaff-again: King Baby is back! Comedy master Jim Gaffigan returns to the land of streaming when his new standup special, "Jim Gaffigan: Comedy Monster," premieres on Netflix on Tuesday, Dec. 21.

The special, Gaffigan's ninth, was written, directed and performed by the comedian, and it follows up on his critically acclaimed 2020 two-parter, "The Pale Tourist."

"The Pale Tourist," like every Gaffigan special, featured the comic at the top of his game. By now, Gaffigan's steady stream of hilarious sets has earned the comic an enormous fan following. In 2016, streaming app Pandora recognized this when it named him the single most popular comic on the site, with a whopping 647 million plays.

Over his three decades of performing comedy, fans have learned to expect certain things from any Gaffigan release: the clean, Catholic family man can always be counted on to deliver material light on profanity and provocation but heavy on relatability and riotous laughter. The majority of his most famous bits are simple odes to junk food, which highlights Gaffigan's effortless, every-man style.

Like the hit specials "Beyond the Pale," "King Baby," "Obsessed" and every other Gaffigan set, "Comedy Monster" delivers trademark deadpan commentary, relatable self-critique and a non-stop barrage of laughs. Specifically, Gaffigan wrote much of the special's material about, in the words of Netflix's official synopsis, "the hot mess that was 2021."

The amusing mess will be available to stream when "Jim Gaffigan: Comedy Monster" airs Tuesday, Dec. 21, on Netflix.

"Being the Ricardos" (2021)

Dive deep into the life of a couple of Hollywood greats in the new biographical drama "Being the Ricardos," available to stream on Prime beginning Tuesday, Dec. 21. Following the lives of legendary stars Lucille Ball (Nicole Kidman, "Nine Perfect Strangers") and Desi Arnaz (Javier Bardem, "Skyfall," 2012), this film takes a look at the complicated balance between their personal romantic relationship and their thriving entertainment careers. Set during one critical week behind the scenes of Ball and Arnaz's sitcom "I Love Lucy," the film takes a look into their relationship and professional lives as one crisis threatens both their careers and another threatens to end their marriage. Directed and written by Aaron Sorkin ("The Trial of the Chicago 7," 2020), "Being the Ricardos" also stars Jake Lacy ("The White Lotus"), J.K. Simmons ("Whiplash," 2014), Nina Arianda ("Midnight In Paris," 2011), Alia Shawkat and Tony Hale (both of "Arrested Development"), Robert Pine ("Lakeview Terrace," 2008) and Clark Gregg ("The Avengers," 2012).

"Yearly Departed" (2021)

Settle in for an evening of hilarious performances when the annual comedy special "Yearly Departed" returns to Prime on Thursday, Dec. 23. For the second year running, "Yearly Departed" brings an all-female lineup of comedians to send off the year in style. Hosted last year by Tiffany Haddish ("Tuca & Bertie"), this year's host Yvonne Orji ("Insecure") joins fellow stars Chelsea Peretti ("Brooklyn Nine-Nine"), Jane Fonda ("Grace and Frankie"), Aparna Nancherla ("Mythic Quest"), Canadian singer-songwriter Alessia Cara ("Scars to Your Beautiful"), Megan Stalter ("The Megan Stalter Show"), Dulcé Sloan ("Chick Fight," 2020) and X Mayo ("The Farewell," 2019) to usher in the new year with a comedic ode to all of the highs and lows the world saw in 2021, from "hot vaxx summer" to hermit life and ignoring the climate crisis. From Amazon Studios, Done+Dusted and Scrap Paper Pictures, "Yearly Departed" is produced by Rachel Brosnahan ("House of Cards"), David Jammy ("P.O.V."), Bess Kalb ("Jimmy Kimmel Live!"), Nathalie Love ("20th Century Women," 2016), Katy Mullan ("How Do You Solve a Problem Like Maria?" 2006), Samantha Ressler ("Home Again," 2017)

Nicole Kidman and Javier Bardem star in "Being the Ricardos" and Paige Simpson ("Yearly Departed," 2020).

"Who You Think I Am" (2019)

Nothing is as it seems in the 2019 French drama film "Who You Think I Am," coming to Prime on Monday, Dec. 20. Based on Camille Laurens' bestselling novel of the same name, "Who You Think I Am" ("Celle Que Vous Croyez" in the original French) follows Claire (Juliette Binoche, "The English Patient," 1996), a middle-aged divorcée, professor and mother with a penchant for dating younger men. After being ghosted by her previous young lover, Ludovic (Guillaume Gouix, "A French Case"), Claire creates a fake online profile, posing as a 24-year-old blonde woman, to snoop on her ex. But when her pretend profile draws the attention of her ex's attractive roommate, Alex (François Civil,

"As Above, So Below," 2014), the pair develops an intense (but entirely digital) romance. As the relationship deepens and the intimacy becomes an uncontrollable obsession, Claire's own reality and her fictionalized life begin to crumble around her. Produced by Michel Saint-Jean ("With a Friend Like Harry..." 2000), the film is directed by Safy Nebbou ("The Giraffe's Neck," 2004), and features an adapted screenplay by Nebbou and Julie

"Rio" (2011)

Fly down south to Rio de Janeiro and feel the rhythm with "Rio," the 2011 film available to stream now on Hulu. This heartwarming film, from the creators of "Ice Age" (2002), tells the story of a bird named Blu (voiced by Jesse Eisenberg, "The Social Network," 2010). Born in Brazil, where exotic bird poaching is a popular and highly profitable business practice, Blu is captured as a young hatchling and sent to America where he falls off the back of a truck in Minnesota and is rescued by a young girl named Linda (voiced by Sofia Scarpa Saldanha, "Ice Age: The Meltdown," 2006). Approximately 15 years later, Linda (now voiced by Leslie Mann, "This Is 40," 2012) owns a bookstore and keeps Blu by her side at all times as her pet and best friend. Still essentially unaware of his previous life and unable to fly due to his high level of domestication, Blu suffers ridicule from other birds in Minnesota who see him as less of a bird because of his life with Linda. The pair's life changes forever, though, when Linda is contacted by Brazilian ornithologist Tulio (voiced by Rodrigo Santoro, "Westworld"), a scientist who informs her that Blu's species is nearing extinction in Brazil and it is up to the domesticated bird to help repopulate his kind. Now jetting off to Rio de Janeiro to meet Tulio and his female blue macaw, Jewel (voiced by Anne Hathaway, "The Witches," 2020), Linda and Blu have a world of adventure at their feet for the first time ever. Co-written by Carlos Saldanha ("Ferdinand," 2017), Todd R. Jones ("Johnson Family Vacation," 2004) and Earl Richey Jones ("In Living Color"), the animated film was directed by Saldanha. "Rio" also voice stars George Lopez ("George Lopez"), Karen Disher ("Horton Hears a Who!" 2008), Phil Miller ("Bipolar"), Jane Lynch ("Glee"), Wanda Sykes ("Monster-in-Law," 2005), Jamie Foxx ("Ray," 2004) and Black Eyed Peas rapper Will.i.am ("Alter Ego").

"Serendipity" (2001)

Spend the holiday season in New York with the early-2000s classic Christmas film "Serendipity," available now to stream on Hulu. While shopping for the perfect Christmas presents for their respective significant others in a New York City department store, Sara (Kate Beckinsale, "Underworld," 2003) and Jonathan (John Cusack, "Must Love Dogs," 2005) both reach for the same pair of black cashmere gloves on display. After some argument, a fair bit of hassle and the final decision to share a dessert at the local cafe called Serendipity — despite the fact that they are both in relationships — the pair separate for the night, only to find themselves pushed back together when they return to the cafe to retrieve items left behind. Both feeling that the fates have pushed them together for a reason, the agree on a method to let fate take its course once more. Now several years later, Jonathan is engaged to his partner, Halley (Bridget Moynahan, "Blue Bloods"), but something about Sara still has him transfixed. Soon enough, Jonathan is roping his best friend, Dean (Jeremy Piven, "Entourage"), into helping him track Sara down, hoping to settle the matter of their attraction one way or another before he marries Halley. Written by Marc Klein ("A Good Year," 2006) and directed by Peter Chelsom ("Hector and the Search for Happiness," 2014), "Serendipity" also stars Eugene Levy ("Schitt's Creek"), John Corbett ("Sex and the City") and Molly Shannon ("Superstar," 1999).

"Troll" (1986)

Start your foray into a legendary comedy-horror saga with "Troll," the first film in the franchise, available to stream now on Hulu. From the delightfully twisted mind of "Demonwarp" (1988) writer John Carl Buechler and his writing partner Ed Naha ("Honey, I Shrunk the Kids," 1999), "Troll" tells the tale of the vile troll king Torok (Phil Fondacaro, "Willow," 1988), who is on the hunt for a magical ring said to possess the power of transformation. Hoping to transform himself into human form so that he may enter an apartment complex inhabited by a powerful good witch (played by both "General Hospital's" June Lockhart and her daughter, "Chicago Fire's" Anne Lockhart), Torok will stop at nothing until his mission is complete, including kidnapping members of the Potter family who just moved into their new San Francisco apartment. With the second installment of the franchise widely considered to be the best worst movie of all time, "Troll" also stars Noah Hathaway ("The NeverEnding Story," 1984), Michael Moriarty ("Law & Order"), Shelley Hack ("The Stepfather," 1987), Jenny Beck ("Father Murphy") as the Potter family, as well as musician Sonny Bono ("First Kid," 1996) and comedic actress Julia Louis-Dreyfus ("Seinfeld") in supporting roles.

"Encanto" (2021)

Fall in love with the magic of Disney animation once more when the stunning film "Encanto" makes its way onto Disney+ following its run in theaters. Premiering on the streamer Friday, Dec. 24 — just in time to enjoy it as a family over the holidays — "Encanto" follows the Madrigal family and their magical home, referred to as the "casita," in the mountains of Colombia. Years ago, while fleeing the violence in her home village, Madrigal matriarch Alma (voiced by María Cecilia Botero, "La Bruja") loses her husband but manages to save their three young children. Arising out of a necessity to protect the family, Alma's magical candle creates the casita out of thin air, leaving the family with safety and a new home in a place they call "Encanto." As the years roll on, each of the Madrigals is blessed with a supernatural gift, which they use to help the locals in the village. The only problem is that Mirabel (Stephanie Beatriz, "Brooklyn Nine-Nine"), one member of the Madrigal family, has not received her otherworldly gift. Worse yet, she sees the enchanted house crumbling before her eyes and no one will hear her pleas to stop it. Fearing no one else in the village will help her and with no magical powers of her own, Mirabel takes it upon herself to save the casita and Encanto before the magic is lost forever.

Written and directed by Jared Bush ("Moana," 2016), Byron Howard ("Zootopia," 2016) and Charise Castro Smith ("Raya and the Last Dragon," 2021), "Encanto" leans into the tradition of magical realism within Colombian culture. Also featuring original songs by "Hamilton" and "In the Heights" (both originally musicals on Broadway) writer Lin-Manuel Miranda, "Encanto" sees voice talent by John Leguizamo ("Ice Age," 2002), Jessica Darrow ("Feast of the Seven Fishes," 2019), Mauro Castillo ("Paro de mi corazón"), Angie Cepeda ("Love in the Time of Cholera," 2007), Diane Guerrero ("Jane the Virgin") and Wilmer Valderrama ("NCIS"), among others.

"Ron's Gone Wrong" (2021)

Open yourself up to technology and make a new friend, because "Ron's Gone Wrong" is available to stream now on Disney+. New this year, the animated film follows Barney (voiced by young actor Jack Dylan Grazer, "It," 2017), an awkward boy in middle school who befriends a robot named Ron (voiced by Zach Galifianakis, "The Hangover," 2009). Ron is an admittedly adorable, walking, talking device that is connected to the internet (think next-level personal assistants like Alexa or Siri), and he is always there for his best bud Barney. But when Ron begins to malfunction — as many electronic devices often do — the bounds of the pairs friendship is tested amid the backdrop of the social-media age. Written by Sarah Smith ("Arthur Christmas," 2011) and Peter Baynham ("Borat Subsequent Moviefilm," 2020), "Ron's Gone Wrong" was co-directed by Smith, Jean-Philippe Vine ("Shaun the Sheep") and Octavio E. Rodriguez ("The Epic Tales of Captain Underpants"). Ed Helms ("The Office"), Olivia Colman ("The Favourite," 2018), Kylie Cantrall ("Gabby Duran and the Unsittables"), Rob Delaney ("Catastrophe"), Ava Morse ("Surprise Me!" 2017) and

Ron and Barney from "Ron's Gone Wrong"

Justice Smith ("Jurassic World: Fallen Kingdom," 2018) also lend their voices.

"King Tut in Color" (2021)

Treat yourself to the gift of history this holiday season and uncover a piece of the mystery that surrounds one of the world's most well-known former leaders. National Geographic's recent documentary "King Tut in Color" premieres on Disney+ Friday, Dec. 24. More than 100 years after one of the field of archeology's biggest finds, the tomb of Egypt's King Tutankhamun, filmmakers have committed the discovery to film in color for a fully-immersive experience. Using top-notch colorization techniques, "King Tut in Color" provides viewers with the unique ability to see the tomb, the treasure and the team who unearthed it all as they've only been seen once before: during the original excavation project by British archeological explorer Howard Carter and his team.
